10. Rights of the Grievant:

- b. The right to be accompanied, represented, and advised by a representative of his or her own choosing; except the agency may challenge or attempt to disqualify the choice of an individual as a representative which would result in a conflict of interest or position, or which would conflict with the priority needs of the agency, or which would give rise to unreasonable costs to the Government.

- d. The right to communicate with the servicing personnel office or a counselor of the Agency.

12. Procedures:

- a. Informal Grievance Procedure
 - (1) The informal grievance procedure is initiated by the employee presenting the grievance to his/her immediate supervisor within 15 days of the particular act or occurrence giving rise to the dispute. Those grievances concerning a continuing practice or condition must be presented within 15 days of the employee becoming aware of it. The grievance may be presented either orally or in writing. The immediate supervisor must then conduct an informal inquiry into the matter and attempt to resolve it, and provide a response to the employee within 15 days of the date the informal grievance was presented. This time limit may be extended if additional time is needed and the employee is notified.

- (2) A supervisor receiving an informal grievance should consult with, and seek advice from, his/her higher level supervisors or his/her support staff offices, to achieve a prompt and fair resolution.
- (3) Even if an informal grievance is not within the authority of the immediate supervisor to decide, it is the supervisor's responsibility to confer with the person(s) with or possessing authority and attempt a resolution. If the supervisor believes the grievance process does not cover the matter, the supervisor will inform the employee and advise the employee of the appropriate process, if any, for resolving the problem.
- (4) The time limits identified above for resolving the problem may be extended by mutual agreement to accommodate resolution of the dispute.
- (5) If the informal grievance is resolved to the satisfaction of the employee, the corrective action will be initiated, the employee informed, and the grievance file closed.
- (6) If the grievance cannot be resolved to the satisfaction of the employee, the employee will be provided a decision in writing, to include the basis for the decision, by the immediate supervisor. The supervisor will also advise the employee in writing of his/her right to file a formal grievance within 15 days of receipt of the decision.

b. Formal Grievance Procedure.

- (1) An employee may file a formal, written grievance with The Adjutant General as the deciding official when a problem is not resolved during the informal problem-solving process. The employee must submit his/her formal, written grievance to the Human Resource Office (Labor relations Specialist) no later than 15 days from the conclusion of the informal process.
- (2) An employee's formal grievance must be signed, dated, and contain a sufficiently detailed statement of the specific issue(s) and the specific, personal remedy sought. The grievance must be submitted with copies of any documents in the employee's possession related to the grievance, and include the name, address, and telephone number of the employee's representative, if any, to his/her immediate supervisor. The remedy sought must be personal to the employee, and may not include a request for disciplinary or other action affecting another employee. An employee may not grieve the same matter raised in any other grievance, appeal, complaint, or other dispute resolution process.

- (3) Prior to transmitting the grievance to the deciding official, the LRS will determine if the grievance is timely, is covered by the grievance policy, and contains complete information regarding any informal resolution attempts concerning the dispute. When a formal written grievance is made, a grievance file will be established and made available to the deciding official. This file will contain all pertinent documents from the informal as well as the formal grievance.
- (4) The Adjutant General may cancel or temporarily suspend a grievance, or the appropriate portion of a grievance, if:
 - (a) The employee requests such action;
 - (b) The employee fails to comply with applicable time limits or procedural requirements, or requests actions be taken against another employee; or
 - (c) The employee raises the same matter under another formal dispute resolution process.
- (5) The Adjutant General will conduct an inquiry into the basis of the grievance and the supervisor's reasons for not granting the relief. The Adjutant General may also designate an impartial individual to investigate the grievance and make recommendations concerning its disposition. The Adjutant General shall fully and fairly consider the grievance. The Adjutant General will provide the employee a written decision with supporting rationale no later than 60 days from the filing of the grievance, unless the time frame is extended due to special circumstances (e.g. when those involved are geographically dispersed, when a fact-finder is used in the process, etc.). In any case, a decision will be rendered within 90 days from the filing of the grievance, unless there is a mutual agreement with the employee to extend the time to accommodate resolution of the dispute.
- (6) The decisions of The Adjutant General on the merits of the grievance are final and not subject to further review or arbitration.

13. Cancellation of Grievances:

- a. The agency retains the right to cancel or suspend the processing of a grievance or a portion of a grievance when:
 - (1) The employee, or his/her representative, requests cancellation;

 - (3) The employee or grievance is excluded from coverage under this policy;

 - (8) Upon the death of the Technician, or upon his/her separation for reasons not connected with the grievance, provided there is no question of pay involved or other relief that could be granted to the Technician.
- b. If the grievance is cancelled or rejected, the LRS will return the grievance submission to the employee, along with a notice in writing providing the basis and rationale for rejecting the submission. An employee may request a review of the LRS's decision to cancel the grievance by the HRO.

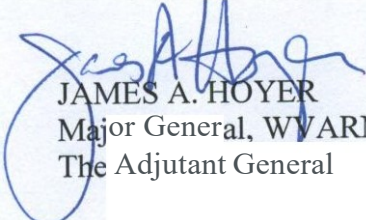

14. Grievance Decision:

- a. The Adjutant General will:
 - (1) Provide a final decision at the earliest practical date after the completion of the grievance review and investigation.
